

Accuware Goes Gold

Accuware announces its promotion to Microsoft Gold Partner

Accuware announces its promotion to Microsoft Gold Partner so it's excellence in the software development arena. Microsoft has awarded this level of achievement to Accuware as result of Accuware's efforts in software development, product certification, and bundling with Microsoft products.

Accuware has achieved merit with Microsoft as a Microsoft "ISV" (Independent Software Vendor) for using Microsoft Tools in the development of its software products. Accuware follows Microsoft Guidelines in the development of software and uses Visual Studio from Microsoft to create its products. Accuware has also submitted and passed stringent testing for it's ProActive Inventory Software product. ProActive Inventory is a Browser based Inventory tool, that is built in ASP.net and utilizes Microsoft SQL server as it's database.

Accuware has also recently come on line with Microsoft's Royalty Licensing Program , which enable's Accuware to provide SQL server licenses to clients at an extra discount, and to also be able to bundle SQL server with it's products. Clients can even purchase and use SQL server Runtime edition to run only Accuware's database, or they can use SQL server products that they may already own.

Accuware will be continuing to enhance it's relationship with Microsoft as Accuware products expand and are increasingly adopted.
